Sömmad is a small playable game (1.6GB) inspired by the game Sömmen, but with a few differences. - The game is playable in MANGI mode (no map, in single mode only.) - More specialised weapons, including the Gun and Spheroids - Weapons available from the start - You can combine weapons to form giant weapons! - You can also place 3 special items for a momentary increased score. We want to hear your feedback and comments about Sömmad :) Please share your thoughts on Facebook, Twitter and Youtube! Learn more about the game and other Sömmen favourites on We hope you will have fun playing Sömmad! - Rovago Studio Directions: Sömmad is a small, playable version of Sömmen, which is available on iOS and Android as a standalone app. You can play Sömmad on any device, but it's a standalone app! Gameplay Overview: In Sömmad, you will play as a team of 4 players who will try to catch a ball as it rolls down through the ground to the end goal at the bottom. During the game, players will run around the game field and use balls as a means of attack and defence. Players must make sure they are all playing their role to get the ball into the goal. Game Modes: Sömmad is available in single mode, or in a 4-player Game Room mode called MANGI. MANGI mode is a unique experience where you can choose your team and start the game from a home base of your choosing. After your team score is high enough, you will be placed into a MANGI World. In a MANGI World, you can roam free and explore the game field to find new items, balls, and friends to play with, but if the ball rolls into the goal, it will also reset the level back to the start. The further through the MANGI World you go, the stronger enemies, bigger balls and harder stages. You need to score enough points in MANGI mode, or you will be forced back into an individual level. Ruleset: - The Game starts after a reset, where you are in the middle of the game field. There are no clear sides - you will be defined by what teammates you are next

Light of Life is a turn-based RPG RPG set in a fictional far-future 2097. You play as the sole survivor of a crashed ship on the inhospitable planet "Arkar", the last vestige of a once great and rich civilization. The character is a male human of 19 or older, ethnic Hispanic, from a city in the United States of America, between the years of 1777 and 2017. Your body is a normal human body, but your mind is a powerful magical mind capsule. A guardian of the people, spirit of the land, and hope for the future, your role is to defend the last remaining citizen of Arkar from danger and keep it safe. Your ability to form alliances with other groups and individuals is a key element to your survival. A huge world, a ton of elements, some solid RPG mechanics, and plenty of resources and quests. ABOUT THE CREATOR: I am the co-creator of Light of Life,with my brother Bernie. I'm also the one that leads the development team, and I handle the creation, design and content of the narrative (writing, concepting, voice acting, music, and designing the world). Bernie is the lead graphic artist, and he handles character designs, animations and visual design. So, I'm going to focus on the narratives. The game does not have the monetization aspects seen in typical RPG games, as we are doing all of our own marketing. I want to focus on telling stories, and I think that will resonate better with the players. As a writer, I wrote a couple of stories for the game before I was involved with the project. My job right now is to continue narrating the story of our protagonist and the world in general, as well as giving feedback to the team regarding the narrative and the story itself. We are looking for more co-creators to join the team: 2D designers, 2D animators, background artists, 2D animators, modelers, virtual sound engineers. If you want to be a part of the team, please contact us at: OR on Twitter at: Light of Life, the story of "Prestige Bully." In the late 1980s, "Prestige Bully" – a robot called Tom – was created by Dr. Susu d41b202975

(The Dresden Dolls album) Light of Life is the sixth studio album by the indie rock band The Dresden Dolls, released on 5 February 2012 on Lydian Sound Records. It is the band's first studio album since their 2006 release Happiness Is Not a Fish That You Can Catch. Light of Life was leaked online on 3 November 2011. Light of Life peaked at number nine on the Billboard Top Comedy/Musical Albums chart, number 4 on the Independent Albums chart and number 61 on the Billboard 200 chart. Some of the tracks are humorous improvisations that were originally performed and recorded in 2006 for an unreleased recording session. The album received positive reviews from music critics. The album won Album of the Year at the 32nd Annual Independent Music Awards, and at the 33rd Annual Independent Music Awards, it won the Best Alternative/Indie Rock Album award. Background Recording In November 2010, the band began recording for their fifth studio album. The two-track titled "Go Away" and "Screaming" were posted online, as well as an interview on Idolator.com. In the interview, they responded to fans' questions, addressing the break-up of former bassist and vocalist Eva Patzakis, their reason for the name change, and where their sound was going. Lead vocalist Amanda Palmer stated: "I felt like for the record that needed to be written, it needed to be refined and I needed to have fun. I was ready to do something I hadn't done yet." As well, she revealed that the record was written and recorded during a period where they were dealing with performance anxiety, and as a coping mechanism: "We have recorded in a sanatorium in which a huge percentage of the songs on this record were written, prior to me having to get ready for a show or tour or whatever it was. And even though that probably sounds strange in and of itself, there was a lot of pent up energy, after all this time of waiting, waiting, waiting for a new record to come out." The song "Come on Baby, Come on" was about Patzakis, who had left the band in 2005. Performing for the first time as a solo act, she was a frontman before she was a bassist and singer. Both vocalist Palmer and guitarist Kaki King, who is also a solo artist, are the daughters of renowned percussionist Jack King. One of the recording sessions took place at Mark
